

Assignment -1

- Trust your abilities under difficult circumstances. Think about ways to improve your flexibility and make the most use of your abilities, particularly in unexpected situations. Always being resourceful helps problem-solving and can provide positive results in all circumstances.
- Watch out for arrogance and overconfidence in yourself as well as others . Also never underestimate situations or people. It is important to cultivate humility and an open mentality. Trust yourself and your skills. Acknowledging your limitations provides a more practical and fair approach to evaluating other people and circumstances.
- Acknowledge the strength of cooperation and teamwork. Always seek chances to work together actively, appreciating the many viewpoints and abilities that exist within a group. Recognize your advantages and disadvantages. Additionally, be aware of each group member's strengths and weaknesses and consider how you might help them become better.
- Think about the abilities and traits that are valuable in various situations. Sometimes unimportant abilities or traits turned out to be crucial. Turn your attention back to acquiring adaptable skills that you may use in a variety of contexts.

Name:-Hyder Presswala
Roll Number:-16010122151
B-2
SY COMPS