

Assignment – 4

Head:- Hanuman, using his intellect and wisdom, assessed Vibhishana's intentions and recognized the seriousness of his choice to leave Ravana's side. He assessed Vibhishana's sincerity and prospective worth as an ally for Rama's cause based on his recognition of his intelligence and dedication to righteousness.

Heart:- Emotionally, accepting Vibhishana involved empathy and compassion. Rama, who was renowned for his compassion, sensed the goodness in Vibhishana and accepted his change of heart. This choice was made in an open and forgiving manner, which reflected the emotional side of welcoming someone who sincerely wanted to be saved.

Hands:- The decision was made to enlist Vibhishana in the army. Rama demonstrated the application of his principles in real life with his decisive action. He showed inclusion and justice by welcoming Vibhishana into his cause, putting his beliefs into action by letting someone who had chosen the right road to join him.

Thus, the choice to admit Vibhishana into Lord Rama's army was a harmonic synthesis of heartfelt comprehension (Heart), logical evaluation (Head), and hands-on application (Hands) of moral norms.
